Why does Vaser® liposuction require such specialized training?

Technology has crept into virtually every aspect of our daily lives, making everyday tasks easier than they were in the past, and making what was previously impossible, possible. However, much of the technology we own and use, we use only to a fraction of its capabilities.

Vaser liposuction is the gold standard in liposuction technology, but with its various tools and different energy levels there is much to learn. Only when surgeons fully understand the technology, will they fully reap its benefits.

People come in all shapes and sizes, thus the body sculpting surgeon must be aware of all body types, and possess an excellent knowledge of the anatomies of superficial fat, muscle, and bone. With an understanding of the technology and practical “hands on” experience, combined with sound anatomical knowledge, surgeons can achieve perfect results, giving patients the bodies they desire.

What does this course offer?

Obviously all plastic surgeons are familiar with liposuction techniques, but Hi-Definition Liposculpture is a very different discipline. This course is aimed at surgeons of all levels, covering everything from the most basic techniques to the most advanced. On this course you will rapidly gain the necessary skills to achieve dramatic results, results that will in turn, result in more patients.

You will learn

- The anatomy of superficial fat, deep fat, muscle, and bone, and their relationships to each other
- How to examine and mark patients prior to surgery
- Fat grafting to enhance pectoral and deltoid muscles, in men.

- Breast and gluteal fat grafting for women
- Post operative care of patients
- How to deal with any complications that might occur

In addition to further developing your anatomical knowledge, and gaining valuable practical Vaser Liposuction Liposculpture experience, you will also learn how to view the human form with an eye for what it can be; the 'V' shaped male and the 'S' shaped female. Having completed the course, and having spent the time to hone your skills, you will no doubt change your job title to 'Body Sculptor'.
